Contract manufacturing

Lack of manufacturing capacity or experience, shortage of personnel or is there any other reason that you need professional support? Biocult has more than 25 years experience in manufacturing. This is what we can do for you:

- Preparation of cell banks
- Production of antibodies
- Upscaling of antibodies
- Manufacturing of assays
- Manufacturing of separate assay components

Contract research

As an independent outsourcing partner Biocult can help to (further) develop or improve your assay or antibody. We can change your thoughts into a real product. Why choose Biocult:

- Our experienced scientists understand the background and nature of biomarkers
- Our life science professionals are capable to translate thoughts to products
- We have a long term history in development of assays
- We are experienced in solving technical problems during development
- We ensure your test will be validated according to your needs
- Fully automated assay or not? We develop what you prefer
